

Patient Initiated Follow-Up (PIFU) - ENT

Information for patients from Ear, Nose, and Throat (ENT)

What is a Patient Initiated Follow-Up (PIFU)?

After your recent consultation or treatment, you have agreed to be placed on a Patient Initiated Follow-Up (PIFU) Pathway.

This means we will not make your regular review appointments. Instead, you can make an appointment to see your clinician or healthcare team when you need it. This will be if you have:

- a 'flare up'
- your symptoms relating to your condition worsen; or
- if you feel that you are not recovering well.

Additional information _____

You or your parent/guardian/carer can make an appointment to see us if you have any concerns related to your specific condition or symptoms until:

Date: _____

What do I need to do to book my appointment?

If you need an appointment, please phone us on 0300 131 4600 Your appointment will be booked in accordance with trust waiting times.

What happens if I do not ring the hospital?

If you do not ring the hospital within the timescale, we have given you, you will be discharged from us back to the care of your GP or original referrer. You can contact them to be re-referred into us later if you need to.

When should I not use this service?

- If your concern is related to a different condition or symptoms.
- If the time stated has lapsed, please see your GP.
- If you need urgent medical advice, you should contact your GP or NHS111
